Sending our Children to School - What does that mean after the Pandemic?

Realizing there can be much anxiety around choosing to send children back to school, we are offering an online Zoom session with facilitator Kim Barthel, an experienced speaker, author, mentor, and teacher in trauma, mental health and child well-being.

Kim Barthel will address the concerns associated with making tough decisions in an environment of uncertainty.

Pre-registration is required in order to attend this session. Space limited to 500 online participants. Register now, visit https://bit.ly/SD71_KimBarthel
