Take Action for $10aDay in BC's Recovery

As our collective attention turns to the future we are calling on the BC government to begin moving all currently licensed child care programs to $10aDay child care sites.

We are also calling on the federal government to share in the costs of a recovery plan to build a sustainable economy - an economy that mitigates climate change, creates green jobs, supports Indigenous peoples on and off reserve, and undoes many inequities in our communities.

Use our email tool below to send an email to decision makers asking them to make sure that in British Columbia child care is part of the pandemic recovery.

Your email will be sent to these people within government:

Premier John Horgan, Hon. Carole James, Hon. Michelle Mungall, Hon. Katrine Conroy, Hon. Katrina Chen, Hon. Chrystia Freeland, Hon. Ahmed Hussen.

Your message will also go to your Federal MP, and Provincial MLA, based on your postal code.

Dear [recipient name will go here],

We call on the BC government to begin moving all currently licensed child care programs to $10aDay child care sites.

We call on the federal government to share in the costs of this move, and to prioritize funding for Indigenous-led child care, as part of a Canada-wide recovery plan.

Thousands of families have recently lost jobs and income. They are now facing more financial hardship than ever. To return to work, parents with young children need access to affordable child care.

Thousands of families have recently lost jobs and income. They are now facing more financial hardship than ever. To return to work, parents with young children need access to affordable child care.

We call on government to:

1. Move NOW to $10aDay child care.
2. Implement a competitive provincial wide wage grid for early childhood educators
3. Expand public child care spaces through infrastructure investments

Fundamental system change for child care is long overdue – and NOW is the time. $10aDay child care will ensure that BC's families, communities and economy not only survive COVID-19, but thrive.

Please support $10aDay investment.

Sincerely,

[your name will go here]
